Conference City: Rome, Italy

Rome is the capital city of Italy and is located in the central-western part of the country. It is one of the most historically rich cities in the world and is famous for its stunning architecture, art, and ancient ruins.

Rome is home to many iconic landmarks such as the Colosseum, the Pantheon, the Roman Forum, and the Trevi Fountain. The Vatican City, an independent city-state located within Rome, is also home to the famous St. Peter's Basilica and the Sistine Chapel.

Apart from its historical significance, Rome is also known for its delicious cuisine, including pizza, pasta, gelato, and wine. Visitors can also enjoy shopping in its fashionable boutiques and markets, as well as experiencing the lively nightlife scene. Rome is easily accessible by air, with two international airports serving the city. There is also an extensive public transportation system, including buses and the metro, which make it easy to navigate around the city.

Why visit Rome from October 15-17, 2026?

Rome is a wonderful destination to visit from October 15-17, 2026, as the city enjoys pleasant autumn weather with mild temperatures and fewer crowds compared to the peak summer season. This makes it an ideal time to comfortably explore famous landmarks such as the Colosseum, Roman Forum, Trevi Fountain, and Vatican City.

During October, Rome's streets, cafés, and historic piazzas offer a lively yet relaxed atmosphere. Visitors can enjoy authentic Italian cuisine, seasonal dishes, and local cultural experiences while walking through the city's beautiful historic neighborhoods.

Attending a conference during this time also allows participants to combine professional networking with cultural exploration in one of the world's most iconic and inspiring cities.
